

CURRICULUM VITAE

Jason D. Hill

- ACADEMIC POSITIONS HELD: July 1, 2005- Associate Professor of Philosophy (tenured) , De Paul University
2000-2005 Assistant Professor of Philosophy, De Paul University
Director of Undergraduate Studies, Autumn 2001—Autumn 2003
1999-2000 Postdoctoral Fellow, Society for the Humanities, Cornell University
1998-2000 Assistant Professor of Philosophy, S.Illinois University, Edwardsville
- AREAS OF SPECIALTY: Ethics, Social and Political Philosophy
- COMPETENCE: Philosophical Psychology, Philosophy of Education, Critical Race Theory
- EDUCATION: Ph.D., Philosophy, Purdue University, May, 1998
M.A., Philosophy, Purdue University, August, 1995
B.A., magna cum laude, Philosophy, Georgia State University, August, 1991
- CURRENT RESEARCH: Tribalism: A Moral Diagnosis A development of a cosmopolitan approach to culture. Volume two of the Cosmopolitan Trilogy. Five out of six chapters completed. Book contract offer from Lexington Books, Rowman and Littlefield.
- Without Biological Race: Social Revision in a Time of Crisis. Book Length Anthology. Edited by Jason D. Hill and Naomi Zack. Completed and ready for submission.
- PUBLICATIONS: Books: Becoming a Cosmopolitan: What it means to be a Human Being in the New Millennium (Rowman and Littlefield, January 2000). Volume one of the Cosmopolitan Trilogy.
- Articles: “Is Global Liberalism Paternalistic: A Moral Cosmopolitan Inquiry.” Translated into Czech and published in a special issue of Filosofia, Globální spravedlnost a demokracie (ed.) Marek Hrubec, published by The Czech Academy of Science and the Institute of Philosophy, Charles University, Fall 2005. This paper was one of two papers delivered as the Prague Lectures. It is a book chapter from A Dictatorship of Virtue: Global Norms in a Multicultural World, volume three of the Cosmopolitan Trilogy.
- “Save Lives! Defy Nature,” Reprinted from Salon, in Remix: Reading and Composing Culture (St. Martin’s Press, 2005), (ed.) Catherine G.Latrell.
- “Moral Hierarchy: One Path to Evolutionary Consciousness.” What is Enlightenment? November-December, 2005.
- “Coming out as a Moral Cosmopolitan: What It Means to Be a Human Being in the New Millennium,” reprinted excerpt from Becoming a Cosmopolitan, in What is Enlightenment? December-February, 2004.
- “Cosmopolitanism,” Edinburgh Dictionary of Philosophy, University of Edinburgh Press, January, 2005.

REVIEWS: I Am Because We Are: Readings in Black Philosophy, (ed.) Fred Lee Hord (Mzee Lasana Okpara) and Jonathan Scott Lee, APA Newsletters on the Black Experience, Computers, Feminism, Law, Medicine, Teaching and International Cooperation, Fall 1997.

Vessels of Evil: American Slavery and the Holocaust, by Laurence Mordekhai Thomas, APA Newsletters on the Black Experience, Computers, Feminism, Law, Medicine, Teaching and International Cooperation, Fall 1996.

CONFERENCES: "Moral Forgetting and the Cosmopolitan Project." Delivered at the 37th Annual Comparative Literature Conference, "Citizen of the World," Dept. of Comp. Literature and Classics, Calif. State Univ., Long Beach, March 1-2, 2002

"Ontological Rebellion and the Pathology of Race." Delivered at the American Philosophical Association, Pacific Division, San Francisco, March, 2001

"Race and the Racial Contract," a critique of Charles Mills' The Racial Contract, APA Eastern Division, Washington, D.C. December, 1998.

"Moral Cosmopolitanism," Philosophy Born of Struggle Conference, New School for Social Research, New York, New York, October, 1998.

INVITED LECTURES: "Transforming Our Humanity in the 21st Century: 12 Steps to Moral Evolution and World Citizenship," two talks to be delivered at Voices from the Edge International Speakers Forum: New York City, December 1, 2005; Cambridge, Mass., December 2, 2005. This Forum functions under the auspices of "What is Enlightenment?" magazine.

"Immanuel Kant's Identity Politics, the Cosmopolitan Project and the Trauma of Ideology." Invited paper for Philosophy and Social Science Conference in Prague, Czech Republic, May 19-22, 2005.

"World Citizenship, Moral Compassion and the Legacy of Dr. King." Delivered to 2000 students and faculty at Starr Mill High School, Fayetteville, GA, February, 2004. Invited by Karen G. Smith. Presented with the Martin Luther King Jr. Award.

"Moral Culture and Cosmopolitanism." Delivered at the Czech Academy of Science, Prague, May 21-25, 2004. Philosophy and Social Science Conference.

"Moral Reasoning from a Cosmopolitan Perspective." Delivered at the Czech Institute of Philosophy, Prague, May 16, 2003. Philosophy and Social Science Conference.

"Moral Compassion and World Citizenship." Public Lecture at Bradley University, February 19, 2003. Invited by Prof. Andrew Kelly, Philosophy Department.

“The American Intellectual in the Age of the Moral Energy Crisis.” Keynote address at the Theory and Cultural Studies Colloquium, Purdue University, September 14, 2001.

“Is Global Liberalism Paternalistic? A Moral Cosmopolitan Inquiry” and “Cosmopolitanism and the Conceptual Ambitiousness of Tribal Designators.” The Prague Lectures, delivered at Charles University and the Institute of Philosophy, Prague, June, 2001.

Workshop on Becoming a Cosmopolitan and “Is Global Liberalism Paternalistic?” Invited by Martha Nussbaum and the University of Chicago Law and Philosophy Workshop, January 8, 2001.

“Cosmopolitan Democracy,” American Philosophical Association, Eastern Division Convention December, 2000.

“Ideal Paternalism: A Cosmopolitan Defense,” Georgia State University, October 2000.

“Globalization: After the End of History: Dilemmas of Global Liberalism,” Re-imagining Politics and Society, Millennium Conference sponsored by The Foundation for Meaning and Ethics, May 18-20, 2000, New York City. A Workshop on Becoming a Cosmopolitan also took place.

“Cosmopolitanism and Morality.” Philosophy and the Social Sciences, Dubrovnik, Croatia, April 10-15, 2000.

“Burying Philosophy to Resurrect Art: Hegel and Postmodernism,” Conference on Hegel and Aesthetics at Cornell University, April, 2000.

“Introducing Cosmopolitanism,” Invited by Max Pensky, Department of Philosophy, Binghamton University, October 1999.

“Moral Reasoning and the Ethics of Culture, paper delivered to The Society for the Humanities, Cornell University, February 2000.

Commentator on “Why Collective Moral Responsibility is Defensible Despite Multiple Community Memberships,” by Kai C. Wong at the APA Eastern Division, December, 1999.

“Cosmopolitanism”: Bentley College, January, 1998
Southern Illinois University, January, 1998.

MEDIA
APPEARANCES:

“What It Means to Be a Human Being in the New Millennium,” Special guest of Jeff Gitterman, Voice America. One-hour radio interview, March 2, 2005.

I appeared as a commentator on NBC’s The Today Show with reporter Mike Leonard, August, 2003.

Two forty-five minute radio interviews on Becoming a Cosmopolitan. Hosted by WBAI radio in New York with Cathy Davis. May, 2000 and August, 2000.

Wisconsin Public Radio, July 12, 2001. Hour-long interview with host Tom Clark on the landmark Wisconsin Supreme Court ruling on the right to procreate.

Several editorial pieces on various topics published in The Atlanta Journal and Constitution, The Detroit News, Destiny Magazine, Issues and Views and Salon.

Forum Organized by the Great Books Foundations and WBEZ radio, Chicago, on the Attack on America on September 11, 2001—"War and Its Meaning in our Lives." October 18, 2001.

LANGUAGES: Reading Comprehension of French and Spanish

PROFESSIONAL MEMBERSHIP: American Philosophical Association

Office: Department of Philosophy
De Paul University
2352 North Clifton Ave—Suite 150
Chicago, IL 60614
Tel: 773-325-4236
Fax: 773-325-7268
E-mail: jhill6@depaul.edu

Home: 2738 North Pine Grove, #801
Chicago, Illinois 60614
Tel: 773-883-9137

Revised November 6, 2005