B.A. Relational Communication

Learning Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Comprehend and summarize the functions that communication serves in interpersonal relationships. (Bloom II)
- Analyze and evaluate how communication processes influence relational development, maintenance, and deterioration. (Bloom IV and V)
- Identify the types of communication problems that people encounter in interpersonal relationships and devise strategies to deal with those problems effectively. (Bloom I and VI)
- Analyze the role that emotions play in relationships and devise skills for expressing emotions with others. (Bloom IV and VI)