B.A. in History of Art and Architecture

Learning Outcomes

Student can:

- Identify and analyze physical, technical, and conceptual aspects of an object, building, or architectural site.

- Initiate and conduct independent research on art and architecture, making use of library, textual, and primary source materials.

- Discuss and explain in an in-depth way the history of art and architecture, including its most compelling theoretical issues, and various ideological approaches.

- Speak and write in a sophisticated way on the diverse cultural, ethnic and gender traditions in the visual arts and architecture.

- Demonstrate a geographically and chronologically broad knowledge of art and architecture sufficient to prepare them for applying to graduate programs or for entry level work in most professional art contexts such as museums, galleries, educational and research centers, publications, at the completion of their degree.