Center for Intercultural Programs

Learning Outcomes

Students who participate in the Center for Intercultural Programs’s educational initiatives will:

- Be able to discuss the histories, cultural artifacts, customs, beliefs, and values of diverse communities.
- Be able to explain and interpret concepts and theories related to diversity, culture, and social justice.
- Develop leadership and interpersonal skills that will prepare them to live and work in an increasingly diverse society.
- Develop skills that help shape a deeper understanding of themselves and their interactions with others.
- Develop effective and culturally-relevant skills for dialogue and socially-responsible leadership.
- Develop skills and strategies to confront systems of oppression and promote social justice and cultural equity.