Design/Technical Department

Learning Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Identify and describe the historical and theoretical significance of a range of theatrical artists, works and artistic approaches from antiquity to the present, encompassing a broad range of periods, cultures and styles.

- Demonstrate the ability to synthesize and apply elements of their education and training in classes, rehearsals, and productions.

- Demonstrate the ability to participate in theatrical production in a professional manner, with discipline, respect and maturity.

- Demonstrate the role of the theatre practitioner as an active member of society and of the cultural and social impact of the arts.

- Upon graduation from the Design/Technical Department of The Theatre School at DePaul University, students will interact and collaborate as part of a team in order to achieve a common artistic goal.

- Upon graduation from the Design/Technical Department of The Theatre School at DePaul University, students will generate the elements needed for each particular discipline and understand current technologies.

- Upon graduation from the Design/Technical Department of The Theatre School at DePaul University, students will contextualize the major theatrical period styles and cultures of history as well as the styles of dramatic literature.

- Upon graduation from the Design/Technical Department of The Theatre School at DePaul University, students will integrate their Liberal Studies knowledge in with the diversity of the world inside and outside of theatre.

- Upon graduation from the Design/Technical Department of The Theatre School at DePaul University, students will communicate through critical observation, reaction, explanation, and recommendation in verbal, written, and visual forms.

- Upon graduation from the Design/Technical Department of The Theatre School at DePaul University, students will research and critically analyze text, design, and technology.

- Upon graduation from the Design/Technical Department of The Theatre School at DePaul University, students will demonstrate the ability to independently follow a project to completion by prioritizing and completing the essential components of professional practice.

- Upon completion of the prior learning outcomes of the Design/Technical Department of The Theatre School at DePaul University, students will develop an original artistic vision.